

[0016] Various vertical positioning mechanisms can be employed to alter the vertical relationship of the cylinder to the light radiator to achieve any desired light attenuation characteristic.